October 2023

Joann's Bits and Pieces

This has been a glorious fall. We even had some real "fall" weather in between our Indian Summer. Time to leave the vegetable and fruit patch behind and get going on our Christmas quilts and gifts. Anyone who has some great new ideas for little gifts, bring the ideas to our October meeting. See you then!

Joann Thomas

Silent Auction

Again another successful Silent Auction for the Northland Needler's Quilts Show. We can not thank you all enough for your donations this year. Items were sold for bid prices as well as buy it now prices. We even had one item sold for more than the buy it now because she wanted to donate to our cause (for the children) this year.

We can't thank you enough for giving of your talents and your fabric possessions this year. It really made a difference to the tune of $1,916.00. The Clay County Transitional Family Center was so happy to receive this money. They are looking for a larger building, one that is more like a home setting and not so business like to provide their kids a more normal atmosphere. Hopefully a place with a kitchen and living room. Right now if kids and their quest what to interact and play they have no space or platform to do so on. Our donation came at a crucial time. At this time they have children ranging from 18 months to teenage years. Thank you for all your blessings for these kids.

Vicki and Leah Stanley

In December we will have the drawings. You can do this! Diane will not be at the October meeting so turn in your UFO's to Mary Cason.

Remember to bring in your UFO's and get your tickets before the meeting if possible.
